

SCOPE

This policy applies to employees of Cargill, joint ventures and affiliates with 51% or more ownership. For clarity, the Executive Team and Board of Directors of Cargill are not subject to this Policy. Travel by the ET or the Board is managed separately and outside this Policy. This policy should be read in conjunction with Cargill's Guiding Principles and Cargill's Code of Conduct.

BACKGROUND

At Cargill, we expect our teams to act with integrity and represent the Company's best interests at all times, including while traveling on business, being part of entertainment activities, using corporate credit cards, and submitting and approving expense reports. Employees are required to read and understand this policy. This document sets forth minimum policies on each of the topics covered. As with any policy of this sort, it cannot be an exhaustive guide and must change as external forces and industry changes introduce new and different products and services. It is the employee's responsibility to adhere to the latest version of this policy available at Cargill's Global Policy Center.

The policy may refer to guidance or limits provided in USD ($). The foreign equivalent for an amount is the exchange rate as determined by xe.com. XE.com provides foreign exchange rate data to Concur Expense, thus it is the most accurate index for the purposes of this policy.

References to Citibank and/or Concur reflect that the vast majority of Cargill worldwide utilize these platforms for credit card and expense (respectively). If the country where the employee resides does not utilize these platforms, the platform of that country is inferred.

Amounts listed may not always be appropriate from a global perspective. Country leadership can enforce lower amounts than any language in this policy. In no case however will a country leader have the discretion to increase any amounts listed in this policy.

Questions regarding the interpretation of any aspect of this policy may be made to the contacts listed at ADDITIONAL REFERENCES. Interpretations made by the supporting teams are considered final and appealable only through a formal request to the Senior Director, Global Travel & Entertainment.

Refer to the last page for an INDEX with links to each section.

The most sustainable option is not travelling at all

Cargill employees are encouraged to think differently about how to connect virtually with colleagues, customers, and partners. For more information, visit Collaboration Tools & Services.

When travel is necessary and approved consider alternatives such as rail vs air, hotels with "green" practices from Cargill preferred properties, etc.

Making Travel Arrangements

Exceptions should be registered via International SOS for safety and security tracking (details in Safe Travel Requirements).

Cargill utilizes online booking tools (web and mobile) in most markets. Where available, they can be accessed via SSO (single sign-on) authentication on desktop via Cargill's Global Travel & Expense portal and available to download on mobile device. - Exception for usage of Business class for flight segment longer than six hours must have prior written approval by a direct or indirect supervisor at Senior Manager 1 level or above. The approval must be attached to the expense report

Air Fare Caps

For international air tickets between regions, fares purchased should not exceed the Airfare Cap, which is the maximum amount permitted to spend. In all cases the Fare Cap works in conjunction with the Lowest Logical Fare and does not replace it. See below reference table.

| Region (Values in USD $)    | North and Latin America | Europe, Middle East & Africa | Asia-Pacific excluding AU/NZ | Australia & New Zealand |
|------------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------|------------------------------|-------------------------|

Any exceptions that exceed the Airfare Cap should be booked via travel agent (not possible via Cargill's approved online booking tools), will require a reason code and will be reported to employee's direct manager. The reservation will be reviewed prior to ticketing by Global T&E team and the traveler might be asked to cancel and change the reservation.

Preferred Hotel Corporate Rates

Travelers should book Cargill corporate rate at preferred hotel (where available) together with flight/car rental if applicable.

Cargill negotiated corporate rates are highlighted within the booking tools and typically include a variety of additional amenities such as internet access, breakfast, free cancelation, etc.

Travelers should not book luxury hotel properties. Examples of luxury hotel brands include (but are not limited to) Ritz-Carlton, Four Seasons, St. Regis, Mandarin Oriental, Aman Hotels, Shangri-La, Bulgari, Belmond, Oberoi, and Raffles. Exceptions may be granted for attending conferences where the conference host hotel is a luxury property.

Travel Select Suppliers

The use of Cargill's select suppliers is required under Cargill's Sourcing and Purchasing Policy. Select supplier is a supplier that has been selected through the sourcing process via appropriate supplier selection methodology that was supervised by a Global/Regional Category Manager or delegate within Strategic Sourcing team.

Allowable exceptions include customer visits or off-site conferences for which lodging has been organized on Cargill's behalf. In such cases, employees should follow Safe Travel advisories and how to Mitigate Travel Security Risks.

Information regarding Cargill select suppliers for travel is available at Global Travel and Expense Portal >> Select Suppliers (air, hotel, car rental, ground transportation, corporate benefits).

Only Cargill professional pilots are authorized to pilot airplanes while on company business.

Air Travel - Select Suppliers

Cargill has negotiated rates with air select suppliers only bookable through preferred booking channels (travel agency and online booking tools). However, the lowest logical fare principle remains the leading criteria for airfare selection.

Be mindful of additional costs and restrictions if evaluating low-cost carriers and certain “basic” airfare types. They usually are not changeable/not subject to cancellation and if business plans are changed – the total value of the ticket is lost.

Employees with more than eight business trips a year to the United States are encouraged to review and utilize air trusted traveler programs (TSA Precheck, Global Entry, etc.). Employee should discuss with their manager which option is acceptable and covered by Cargill.

Lodging - Select Hotel Properties

Cargill’s select hotel properties should be used when available as directed by the global approved travel agency or approved online booking tools (where available).

Whenever possible, consider choosing hotels which are certified as green properties.

Cargill has negotiated higher-tier hotels directory. Only business class-eligible travelers are entitled to use them. These hotels will be marked accordingly.

Cargill will reimburse single room rates, including reasonable and customary gratuities.

Hotel bills must include the name of the traveler and the name of the Cargill legal entity that pays the traveler’s salary (the employer).

Allowable incidentals must be classified separately on expense reports for tax and tracking reasons.

Ground Transportation - Select Suppliers

Cargill’s select car rental suppliers should be used when available as directed by the global travel agency or approved online booking tool (where available).

Fuel service options (prepaid fuel) is not reimbursable. Employees are expected to return rental cars with a full tank and fueling charges will only be approved in rare exceptional cases.

Economy or mid-size vehicles are reimbursable. If three or more employees are traveling together, a full-size sedan or mid-size SUV rental is allowed. If snow or ice are expected, all-wheel drive in the same class is reimbursable.

It is the traveler’s responsibility to review insurance inclusions. Generally, insurance is provided with preferred suppliers when rented through Cargill’s travel agency. Insurance coverage should only be selected when non-preferred supplier is selected.

Whenever possible, consider rail transportation as a sustainable alternative to air/car options.

The purchase of a first-class rail fare is authorized if the journey could have been taken by air and the cost of the first-class rail does not exceed that of the least cost logical fare.

Other necessary ground transportation is reimbursable. This includes but is not limited to taxi, hired car, bus and subway.

Seek for local advice on the safest and most convenient option, including ride share (Uber, Lyft, etc.), chauffeur services (for example: Avis My Driver (India), Enterprise My Driver (China), SIXT My Driver) and others as an alternative to conventional taxi.

Travel Disruption & Insurance Coverage

Employees traveling internationally are covered by Cargill's travel insurance and as such, additional travel insurance should be declined. For additional information on travel coverage and how to obtain a certificate, visit Global Travel and Expense Portal >> Insurance for International Travel.

For employees renting corporate rates by Cargill's preferred suppliers (such as National, Enterprise, Sixt, etc.) via Cargill's travel agent or online booking tool, comprehensive and liability insurance coverage is provided as part of Cargill's Agreement with these suppliers and coverage can be declined if requested at time of rental. For bookings with other suppliers, travelers should refer to the insurance that may be included with the Corporate Travel Card Benefit by Citibank prior to accepting coverage at additional cost.

Standard travel insurance may be provided by the Corporate Travel Card provider when travel is booked through Cargill's travel agency and paid using the card. Employees should refer to the Cardholder Agreement for additional information. A current copy of the Cardholder Agreement is provided at the time of card request and subsequent copies can be obtained by calling the customer service number on the back of the card.

If a traveler is separated from their checked baggage during a trip, they should first make a claim with the carrier responsible for the baggage. Certain areas of the world have legislated coverage for lost baggage and in all cases, a proof of claim is required to process secondary coverage. If the traveler has filed a claim with the carrier they may also be entitled to benefits through the Corporate Card. Contact the card issuer in traveler's country to understand what coverage is provided when booking a flight with the Corporate Card. Cargill is a payor of last resort for lost/delayed baggage and will cover expenses we deem to be reasonable and required only after evidence that the claim to the carrier and card provider resulted in insufficient claim recovery. It is the sole and discretionary option of Cargill as to claims settlement. Payment for approved claims should be made by raising a T&E Claim and expensing with category "Luggage".

Off-site Group Meetings & Events Sponsored by Cargill

The meeting venue for group meetings and events should be at a Cargill facility whenever possible and available. In case off-site venue is required, Cargill preferred hotels should be the first option, unless they do not have adequate meeting space, or are not available.

Cargill utilizes the services of preferred suppliers for off-site venue sourcing – contacts available at Meetings and Events site. In some markets, the travel agency offers group meetings support through specialized teams.

Meeting organizers should be mindful of total travel cost when choosing the venue location such as air, ground transportation, avoiding peak travel seasons, etc.

Refer to Sourcing Policy to check under what circumstances Strategic Sourcing and Procurement should be involved in the negotiation process for external/off-site events.

TRAVEL EXPENSE REPORTING

Expense Reporting Standards

Expense reports must be submitted within 14 (fourteen) calendar days of incurring a charge. It is recommended to bundle expenses and submit expense reports every two weeks.

Managers are responsible to review their employees' expense reports to ensure they are following this policy.

Any expense incurred using a corporate card which is not submitted for more than 45 days will require Senior Manager or two levels up Manager approval attached to the report.

Any out-of-pocket transactions that are not submitted timely may lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Cargill will only reimburse employees for actual and properly documented expenses that include the business purpose:

- Original purchasing tickets/receipts/invoices are required in accordance with traveler's country of residence guidelines
- Corporate travel card statements are not considered valid receipts
- A Missing Receipt Affidavit should only be used in exceptional situations where documented attempts to obtain a replacement receipt from the supplier have not been successful.

Details on travel related acceptable/unacceptable card transaction types can be found by following the provided link. Cargill has full discretion to unilaterally amend this list. The list is not exclusive.

Any exception to the above is subject to Senior Manager or two levels up Manager approval at their discretion. For any country-specific expense reporting topics (cut-off payment schedule, mileage reimbursement rate, etc.), contact the respective Global T&E support team of country's expense tool and/or local finance department. Contacts are available at Cargill's Global Travel and Expense >> Support.

Expense Reporting Categories

Mobile Device and Internet

Expenses associated with a Cargill issued mobile device are covered in full.

Monthly plan fees associated with personal mobile device plans, when approved in advance with an employee's direct supervisor, are reimbursable based on actual cost incurred up to a maximum of USD $50. In some countries, this amount may be lower based on Cargill's determination of reasonable and market costs for mobile device plans. In addition to monthly service plans, when traveling internationally on Cargill business and traveler's personal service provider charges a fee for international roaming, Cargill will cover actual additional costs incurred up to USD $15 per day while on trip with manager pre-approval.

Expenses for purchasing mobile devices and peripherals are not reimbursable expenses under the personal mobile device reimbursement program. Non-reimbursable expense examples include (but are not limited to) cell phones, smart phones, tablets, or other physical devices connected to the employee's plan, chargers, earphones, cords, watches, or other wearable technology. Reimbursement is limited to plan costs and applicable taxes only up to the lesser of the country maximum personal mobile device reimbursement cap or USD $50.

Refer to Mobile Device Use Procedure regarding appropriate use of company-owned mobile devices.

Home internet services are not reimbursable expenses through T&E regardless of if an employee is based at a Cargill office/center/plant or in a hybrid or work from home employment arrangement. Modest internet charges incurred while traveling continue to be reimbursable.

Video and audio streaming services are not reimbursable expenses. Examples of streaming services include (but are not limited to): Netflix, Disney+, Hulu, ESPN, Apple Music, Spotify, etc.).

Mileage

Mileage reimbursement at per mile/km rate associated with the use of an employee's personal vehicle is allowed if:

- It makes more sense for Cargill than taking a flight, rail, car rental, etc.
- The use of the personal vehicle is for the purpose of conducting company business.
- The employee does not have an alternative company sponsored car program available.
- The mileage is more than the employee's normal commuting mileage to/from a Cargill location.

Car rental is recommended when a business trip would require at least 90 miles/140 km in any given day.

Any mileage reimbursement included in an employment package is not in scope of this policy.

Retirement and Other Recognition

Celebrations of retirement for employees with 10 or more years of service who have reached a minimum age of 55 is an allowable T&E expense with manager approval per the following guidelines:

| Years of Service              | Spend Limit ($USD) * |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------|
| Under 10 years of service     | $0                   |
| 20 years or less of service   | $1,000 or less       |
| More than 20 years of service | Up to $2,500         |

**Spend can be for a party or a party and a small token gift of appreciation. Country spend limits may be lower, contact business's Controller for guidance.*

Party expenses should be filed as Employee Recognition / Gift Card and attendees of the parties should be listed in the expense report. For gifts, expenses should also be claimed under Employee Recognition / Gift Card. Depending on the retiring employee's home country, gifts may be considered taxable income.

Recognition is reimbursable when in compliance with the Cargill Recognition Strategy Guide (version January 2024). For additional information and assistance on recognition, visit MyHR Recognition page or create MyHR request.

Meals and Entertainment

The following are reimbursable:

- Personal meals (non-entertainment) while on business travel based on reasonable and actual cost of the meal with a maximum allowance of USD $60 per day unless more restrictive rules apply at country level
- Gratuity/tips up to the customary allowance for gratuity. Payment for the gratuity should be with the same form of payment as the meal.
- Actual cost of the entertainment for employees, customers, guests, and suppliers when the expense is for the benefit of the company, and a valid business purpose exists and reflects Cargill's Guiding Principles.

Meals of more than one person must be classified as entertainment. The business purpose, names and affiliation of those entertained and type of entertainment is required for reimbursement. Line-item detail receipts are required for reimbursement, summary receipts (aka signature slips) are not an acceptable receipt. The most appropriate senior Cargill employee in attendance should pay for and expense the entertainment.

Relocation/Global Mobility/Expat

Expenses related to domestic relocation for regions Latin America, Asia-Pacific and Europe, Middle East and Africa should follow the same process as any other travel related expenses listed in this policy.

Expenses related to domestic relocation in US/Canada and international relocation (Global Mobility Program) should primarily be paid using the designated corporate relocation travel card and the associated expense reimbursement program with Weichert Workforce Mobility should be followed. The responsible Weichert Relocation counselor can be contacted in case of questions about the relevant process. Consequently, the expenses outside that process and covered under this report type should be limited.

Further, there are some slight variations to this policy that apply for travel, benefits and expenses covered under the Global Mobility Program and Domestic Relocation programs for US and Canada. Consult the relevant policy documents, for example the Global Mobility Assignments Policy for the Global Mobility Program.

Gifts and Entertainment

Refer to Gifts and Entertainment Policy regarding "Gifts and Entertainment" which can include anything of value provided to or from Cargill for which fair market value is not paid.

Other Travel-Related Approved Expenses

Other reasonable expenses will be reimbursed if incurred in relation to transacting company business. Examples include but not limited to visas, passports, airport taxes and fees, foreign exchange fees, remote or off-site airport parking, ATM fees, laundry when traveling more than five consecutive days and excess business luggage fees.

Cargill has the right to refuse payment for non-travel related expenses. A different form of payment should be used to pay for these expenses (not the corporate travel card).

Spouse business-related travel expenses will be reimbursed only with prior written approval from the traveler's Business Group Leader, Functional Leader or member of the Executive Leadership Team.

REPORTING MISUSE

If you are not comfortable discussing the issue with your manager, or you already raised the concern and do not feel that it was properly addressed, you should report the concern to Cargill's Ethics Open Line.

Cargill takes all reports of fraud seriously and will investigate all reports promptly. This policy will be applied consistently regardless of position, responsibility, or length of employment. Cargill prohibits all forms of retaliation against anyone who in good faith raises a concern or participates in an investigation.
